Broadening your Horizons: adding value to yourself and your organisation

Thursday 16th July 2015, 6:30pm

This seminar is for the Information Explorer! Come and discover the skills you didn't even realise you possessed.

CLIG is delighted to present this interactive workshop run by David Winter of The Careers Group. The session will provide an opportunity to take a step back from the daily pressures of your job to think about your long term professional development priorities. We will look at the big picture trends within the legal information sector and try to work out what implications they have for how the role of information professional is likely to change in the future. We will then explore the most important skills you'll need to thrive in this evolving environment – some of which you may have already and others you may need to develop, ensuring your ongoing value to your organisation.

Join us to unearth the talents you can offer for the benefit of your organisation.

David is Head of Consultancy and Research (Career development, leadership development and professional development coaching and training) at The Careers Group, University of London.
